Editorial

Thank you to reviewers

The Editors of Biosystems Engineering encourage submissions that present new insights or innovation in physical science and engineering related to the biological systems across the remit of the journal. In order to maintain and enhance the scientific standards of the journal and to shorten the interval between submission and publication, we recognise our reliance on the commitment of our peer reviewers, and thank them again here. We record our formal thanks below to those who have completed reviews for the journal within the EES and EVISE® systems in 2014 - 2015.

The Editorial Board provides support and guidance to the Editors, and their input is greatly valued. In the coming year, new members of the Board will be sought. Our goal is to ensure effective coverage both geographically and by subject area, so that the status of the journal as the foremost publication in its field is secured for the future. We would be pleased to hear from individuals or organisations who consider that particular areas are not well covered on the Board, or who wish to suggest potential candidates.
