

Acknowledgement of Referees 2015

Peer review is both the sign and agent of high scientific quality in publishing. The anonymous review process helps authors maximize the potential of their research and helps readers understand its purpose. It is time consuming, unpaid and absolutely vital. We would like to thank the Editorial Board and the following individuals for their expert assistance in refereeing papers submitted in 2015, and hereby their contribution to the articles published. We apologize if we have inadvertently overlooked any referee.
