This is a PDF file of an unedited manuscript that has been accepted for publication. As a service to our customers we are providing this early version of the manuscript. The manuscript will undergo copyediting, typesetting, and review of the resulting proof before it is published in its final form. Please note that during the production process errors may be discovered which could affect the content, and all legal disclaimers that apply to the journal pertain.

Highlights:

- Drawbacks of an incentives system for centrally managed units are identified.
- A new incentivisation approach for centrally managed units is proposed.
- A complementary approach serves to deal with “masked” super-efficient units.
- A data set from a small bank is used to illustrate the proposed approach.
