

Author's Accepted Manuscript

A REAL FIFTH DIMENSION?

Peter D. Cooper

PII: S1550-8307(16)30165-3

DOI: <http://dx.doi.org/10.1016/j.explore.2016.10.006>

Reference: JSCH2149

To appear in: Explore: The Journal of Science and Healing

Cite this article as: Peter D. Cooper, A REAL FIFTH DIMENSION?, Explore: The Journal of Science and Healing, <http://dx.doi.org/10.1016/j.explore.2016.10.006>

This is a PDF file of an unedited manuscript that has been accepted for publication. As a service to our customers we are providing this early version of the manuscript. The manuscript will undergo copyediting, typesetting, and review of the resulting galley proof before it is published in its final citable form. Please note that during the production process errors may be discovered which could affect the content, and all legal disclaimers that apply to the journal pertain.

Peter D. Cooper¹, DSc, PhD, BSc, MASM

“Something sacred burning in every bush and tree...” Joan Baez and Steve Clark

¹Corresponding author. Retirement address: 72, Florence Taylor Street, Greenway, Australian Capital Territory, Australia, 2900. Email: doddcoop@ozemail.co.au
Phone: +61-2-62319926

Ever since humans realised they were distinct conscious beings it seems they wondered about their place in Nature. Each pre-literate culture developed its own rationalisation of how what it saw around came to be, handed on as oral history often with a sacred spiritual basis involving discarnate ancestry and becoming an integral part of daily life.

In the East, the relation of Mankind to Mind and Consciousness dominated, with major advances in their understanding. In the Middle East and Europe, the focus became a prescribed view of the Universe based on one tribal spiritual and folk-memory history and eventually backed by powerful established Judaeo-Christian-Islamic churches that prohibited other forms of thought. This view was only seriously challenged after two millennia when some outstandingly able men in Europe made careful measurements with better instruments and open minds. Gradually the spiritual

Download English Version:

<https://daneshyari.com/en/article/5572685>

Download Persian Version:

<https://daneshyari.com/article/5572685>

Daneshyari.com