Samuel A. Silver, Ziv Harel, Eric McArthur, Danielle M. Nash, Rey Acedillo, Abhijat Kitchlu, Amit X. Garg, Glenn M. Chertow, Chaim M. Bell, and Ron Wald

Better strategies and quality improvement programs are needed to identify and care for acute kidney injury survivors in the community.

- 173 Role of Niacin in Current Clinical Practice: A Systematic Review
Aakash Garg, Abhishek Sharma, Parasuram Krishnamoorthy, Jalaj Garg, Deepti Virmani, Toishi Sharma, Giulio Stefanini, John B. Kostis, Debabrata Mukherjee, and Ekaterina Sikorskaya

Niacin therapy does not lead to significant reductions in mortality or recurrent cardiovascular events among persons at risk for atherosclerotic cardiovascular disease.

- 188 Associations of Coffee, Tea, and Caffeine Intake with Coronary Artery Calcification and Cardiovascular Events
P. Elliott Miller, Di Zhao, Alexis C. Frazier-Wood, Erin D. Michos, Michelle Averill, Veit Sandfort, Gregory L. Burke, Joseph F. Polak, Joao A.C. Lima, Wendy S. Post, Roger S. Blumenthal, Eliseo Guallar, and Seth S. Martin

This study supports regular tea consumption as part of a heart healthy diet as recommended by the AHA. The results for coffee and caffeine intake were neutral, suggesting that regular use of these substances is safe.

- 198 Predictors and Causes of Long-Term Mortality in Elderly Patients with Acute Venous Thromboembolism: A Prospective Cohort Study
Nicolas Faller, Andreas Limacher, Marie Méan, Marc Righini, Markus Aschwanden, Jürg Hans Beer, Beat Frauchiger, Josef Osterwalder, Nils Kucher, Bernhard Lämmle, Jacques Cornuz, Anne Angelillo-Scherrer, Christian M. Matter, Marc Husmann, Martin Banyai, Daniel Staub, Lucia Mazzolai, Olivier Hugli, Nicolas Rodondi, and Drahomir Aujesky

Predictors of long-term mortality in elderly venous thromboembolism patients include cancer, arterial hypotension, polypharmacy and low physical activity.

- 207 High Positive End-Expiratory Pressure Is Associated with Improved Survival in Obese Patients with Acute Respiratory Distress Syndrome
Christian Bime, Mallorie Fiero, Zhenqiang Lu, Eyal Oren, Cristine E. Berry, Sairam Parthasarathy, and Joe G.N. Garcia

In obese patients with acute respiratory distress syndrome, ventilation using a high positive end-expiratory pressure strategy was associated with improved survival.

- 214 Heavy Cannabis Use Is Associated With Low Bone Mineral Density and an Increased Risk of Fractures
Antonia Sophocleous, Roy Robertson, Nuno B. Ferreira, James McKenzie, William D. Fraser, and Stuart H. Ralston

Heavy cannabis use has a detrimental effect on bone health, being associated with low bone mineral density, low BMI, high bone turnover, and an increased risk of fracture.

- 222 Impact of Body Mass Index and Genetics on Warfarin Major Bleeding Outcomes in a Community Setting
Ragan Hart, David L. Veenstra, Denise M. Boudreau, and Joshua A. Roth

The association of body mass index with major bleeding suggests that BMI should be considered an important clinical factor in assessing and managing warfarin therapy.
