Keywords: Chairman, Chair, Chairperson, H-Index, Academic Urology, Scholarly ProductivityABSTRACT*Objective

To examine and characterize the demographics and scholarly characteristics of academic urology chairmen at the time of appointment.

Methods

The chairman of each United States urology residency program as of September 2016 was included in the study. Interim chairmen, as well as programs for which no clearly defined chair could be identified, were excluded. Demographic and academic data were collected via publically available curriculum vitae, departmental websites, Google search engine, and PubMed and Scopus websites.
