

Author's Accepted Manuscript

Individualizing the return to sports after ACL reconstruction

George J. Davies

PII: S1048-6666(17)30016-2
DOI: <http://dx.doi.org/10.1053/j.oto.2017.01.013>
Reference: YOTOR617

To appear in: Operative Techniques in Orthopaedics

Cite this article as: George J. Davies, Individualizing the return to sports after ACL reconstruction, Operative Techniques in Orthopaedics, <http://dx.doi.org/10.1053/j.oto.2017.01.013>

This is a PDF file of an unedited manuscript that has been accepted for publication. As a service to our customers we are providing this early version of the manuscript. The manuscript will undergo copyediting, typesetting, and review of the resulting galley proof before it is published in its final citable form. Please note that during the production process errors may be discovered which could affect the content, and all legal disclaimers that apply to the journal pertain.

Individualizing the return to sports after ACL reconstruction

George J. Davies, DPT, MEd, PT, SCS, ATC, LAT, CSCS, PES, FAPTA

Professor - Physical Therapy
Armstrong State University
Department of Rehabilitation Sciences
Savannah, GA.

Sports Physical Therapist
Coastal Therapy
Savannah, GA.

Sports Physical Therapist
Gundersen Health System
LaCrosse, WI.

Associate Editor- Sports Health: A Multidisciplinary Approach

George.Davies@armstrong.edu

George J. Davies
Professor - Physical Therapy
Armstrong State University
Department of Rehabilitation Sciences
207 Armstrong Center
11935 Abercorn Street
Savannah, GA. 31419

Telephone number: 912-660-2286

E-mail address: George.Davies@armstrong.edu

Conflict of Interest Statement: No conflicts of interest are declared.

Download English Version:

<https://daneshyari.com/en/article/5710902>

Download Persian Version:

<https://daneshyari.com/article/5710902>

Daneshyari.com