

Author's Accepted Manuscript

Design of probiotic-fortified food matrices influence their antipathogenic potential

Srijita Sireswar, Gargi Dey, T.K. Sreesoundarya, Dipon Sarkar

PII: S2212-4292(17)30475-3
DOI: <http://dx.doi.org/10.1016/j.fbio.2017.08.002>
Reference: FBIO218

To appear in: Food Bioscience

Received date: 1 August 2017

Accepted date: 6 August 2017

Cite this article as: Srijita Sireswar, Gargi Dey, T.K. Sreesoundarya and Dipon Sarkar, Design of probiotic-fortified food matrices influence their antipathogenic potential, Food Bioscience, <http://dx.doi.org/10.1016/j.fbio.2017.08.002>

This is a PDF file of an unedited manuscript that has been accepted for publication. As a service to our customers we are providing this early version of the manuscript. The manuscript will undergo copyediting, typesetting, and review of the resulting galley proof before it is published in its final citable form. Please note that during the production process errors may be discovered which could affect the content, and all legal disclaimers that apply to the journal pertain.

Title: Design of probiotic-fortified food matrices influence their antipathogenic potential

Running title: Antipathogenic potential of fruit based probiotic beverage

Authors: Srijita Sireswar, Gargi Dey*, Sreesoundarya T.K., Dipon Sarkar

Affiliations: School of Biotechnology, KIIT University, Patia, Bhubaneswar, Odisha. PIN-751024. India

*Corresponding Author Address: School of Biotechnology, KIIT University, Patia, Bhubaneswar, Odisha. PIN-751024. India.

E mail address: drgargi.dey@gmail.com, gargi.dey@kiitbiotech.ac.in

Download English Version:

<https://daneshyari.com/en/article/6488980>

Download Persian Version:

<https://daneshyari.com/article/6488980>

Daneshyari.com