ABSTRACT

Starting from the second half of the 20th century Ecological problems, that engulfed the world had an influence on our republic as well. Pollution of air and water basins and soils has reached for apogee, the process of degradation of winter and summer pastures has decreased, in some regions forests have been completely or partly destroyed. Consequences of fluctuation of sea level, problems related to ozone layer, global changes of climate being combined with other wide-scale processes have reached the extent at which they can not be neglected in Azerbaijan Republic. Where as global thinking and civilized relations between nations are being formed, international prestige of the state is starting to be estimated by its attitude to the nature and natural resources. Therefore at present time Azerbaijan Republic society pays incremental attention to its attitude towards environment, natural ecosystems, surface and underground minerals. In the article the approach aimed to solution of eco-ethical problems in Azerbaijan Republic has been used.

Keywords: ecological, ethical, pollution, water basins, forests, winter, summer pastures.

Introduction.

Interrelations of the human and nature is just one part of the total crisis that influences the all in-society relations system, and even the human's moral life. It can be prevented just by means of power of human intellect and human unity.

If in 70-80th of XX century condition of the global ecology and protection of the natural wealth was considered the second big problem staying in front of the mankind after the war and peace problems, the end of "cold war" period and elimination of the global danger of heat-nuclear war it past to the front plan

In U.N.O. annual report concerning the environment it is said that "During 1984-1994 the industrial reserve of 5 fish species in Atlantic Ocean decreased for 95%". At present more than 15 million vegetation and animal species exist in the world. The researches show that about 100 species of them is destroyed every day. But their destruction in most cases occurs to be unknown for people. The danger that these losses will create for biosphere in the future has not been studied yet. But one truth is known that the mankind will have to suffer very great troubles because of these losses in the future.

These problems did not past over our Azerbaijan Republic. Suitable climatic condition, rich
