Editor Comment:

There are still many glaring English problems with the manuscripts. E.g. the use of 'we', 'can't', structure of sentence, typos etc. Some sentences does not make sense. Please get a Professional Proof Reader to go through it. Submit your rebuttal with a proof that the paper has been vetted through for English by a Professional English proof reader. Show the changes made in track changes.

Aside from that please eliminate all multiple lumped references and make sure some short assessment are written for each reference.

The manuscript will not be accepted unless these two main items have been addressed in the next revision. Else it will be rejected if the English level is still not up to the standard required by the journal.

This manuscript is submitted in Journal of Cleaner Production.
