Florida, Melbourne—I recently bought an endodontics practice in which I had worked as an associate for nearly four years. We were busy, but the previous owner is slowing down and plans on fully retiring soon, and so I have become extremely busy. I would like to get out of the office before 7:00 one of these days, and I think hiring an associate may be the best way to make sure that happens. We are currently in the process of upgrading from PBS to TDO and have recently bought all new sensors and computers. In the relatively near future, we plan to purchase a CBCT. Ideally, I would like someone to come in as an associate with the goal of becoming a partner in the future, if interested. The sooner you come into the practice, the more say you will have in the future of the practice. Feel free to email me with any questions. The practice is located in Brevard County, Florida, which has 72 miles of coastline with some of the nicest beaches in the country. The county has a high concentration of engineers due to the presence of NASA, Northrup Grumman, Harris Corporation, and several other high-tech companies. They all make good money and have good dental insurance. Because the area draws so many highly educated people, many schools are highly rated, including two junior/senior high schools ranked in the top 50 nationally. And to top it off, the practice is 63 miles from Disney World, so you can enjoy some of the best theme parks on earth without being stuck in a city with infuriating traffic. Requirements: A valid Florida Dental License; A DEA License, and graduation from an accredited endodontics specialty program. Please reply to drjones@brevarendodontics.com.
