

Accepted Manuscript

Title: Is egg freezing a good response to socioeconomic and cultural factors that lead women to postpone motherhood?

Author: Claudia Bozzaro

PII: S1472-6483(18)30087-7
DOI: <https://doi.org/10.1016/j.rbmo.2018.01.018>
Reference: RBMO 1901

To appear in: Reproductive BioMedicine Online

Received date: 27-6-2017
Revised date: 30-1-2018
Accepted date: 31-1-2018

Please cite this article as: Claudia Bozzaro, Is egg freezing a good response to socioeconomic and cultural factors that lead women to postpone motherhood?, Reproductive BioMedicine Online (2018), <https://doi.org/10.1016/j.rbmo.2018.01.018>.

This is a PDF file of an unedited manuscript that has been accepted for publication. As a service to our customers we are providing this early version of the manuscript. The manuscript will undergo copyediting, typesetting, and review of the resulting proof before it is published in its final form. Please note that during the production process errors may be discovered which could affect the content, and all legal disclaimers that apply to the journal pertain.

Short title: Egg freezing as a response to postponed motherhood?

Is egg freezing a good response to socioeconomic and cultural factors that lead women to postpone motherhood?

Claudia Bozzaro

Department of Medical Ethics and History of Medicine, Albert-Ludwigs-University, Freiburg
Stefan-Meierstr. 26, 79104 Freiburg, Germany

Corresponding author.

Tel: +49 (0) 761-2035040; Email address: bozzaro@egm.uni-freiburg.de

Key message

In this paper, I investigate whether social egg freezing is a good response to the socioeconomic and sociocultural constraints that lead women to postpone motherhood, and therefore, whether it can be seen as a means of achieving what in virtue ethics is known as a flourishing life.

Download English Version:

<https://daneshyari.com/en/article/8783861>

Download Persian Version:

<https://daneshyari.com/article/8783861>

Daneshyari.com