Author's Accepted Manuscript

Biologic Augmentation of Rotator Cuff Repair: The Role of Platelet-Rich Plasma and Bone Marrow Aspirate Concentrate

Anirudh K. Gowd, Brandon C. Cabarcas, Rachel M. Frank, Brian J. Cole

www.elsevier.com/locate/enganabound

PII: S1060-1872(17)30072-2

http://dx.doi.org/10.1053/j.otsm.2017.10.008 DOI:

Reference: YOTSM50618

To appear in: Operative Techniques in Sports Medicine

Cite this article as: Anirudh K. Gowd, Brandon C. Cabarcas, Rachel M. Frank and Brian J. Cole, Biologic Augmentation of Rotator Cuff Repair: The Role of Platelet-Rich Plasma and Bone Marrow Aspirate Concentrate, Operative Techniques in Sports Medicine, http://dx.doi.org/10.1053/j.otsm.2017.10.008

This is a PDF file of an unedited manuscript that has been accepted for publication. As a service to our customers we are providing this early version of the manuscript. The manuscript will undergo copyediting, typesetting, and review of the resulting galley proof before it is published in its final citable form. Please note that during the production process errors may be discovered which could affect the content, and all legal disclaimers that apply to the journal pertain.

ACCEPTED MANUSCRIPT

Biologic Augmentation of Rotator Cuff Repair: The Role of Platelet-Rich Plasma and Bone Marrow Aspirate Concentrate

¹Anirudh K. Gowd, BS; ¹Brandon C. Cabarcas, BS; ²Rachel M. Frank MD; ¹Brian J. Cole MD MBA

¹Rush University Medical Center, Division of Sports Medicine, Department of Orthopedic Surgery

²CU Sports Medicine, Department of Orthopedics, University of Colorado School of Medicine

Download English Version:

https://daneshyari.com/en/article/8801870

Download Persian Version:

https://daneshyari.com/article/8801870

Daneshyari.com