

A thank you to all our reviewers in 2017!

Ultimately, there are only three things that really determine the quality of a journal: the quality of the authors; of the editors; and of the reviewers. Whereas the first two always get the credit they deserve in the published journal, the work of the reviewers largely goes unnoticed and may sometimes feel a bit unrewarding. Yet, we rely on several reviewers for each article that we publish and we are very grateful that each year many scholars commit their time and expertise to reviewing manuscripts for us. For that reason, we would like to thank below explicitly all 1290 persons who reviewed for Geoderma in 2017. Thank you very much for helping us to further improve the quality and the speed of the review process, and we hope that we can really upon your expertise in the future!

On behalf of the editorial team of Geoderma,
Jan Willem van Groenigen, chair of Editors-in-Chief
