Conference report

International Association for Gondwana Research (IAGR)

2017 annual convention and 16th Gondwana International

Conference: A report

The 16th Gondwana International Conference “Puzzling out Gondwana”, and International Association of Gondwana Research (IAGR) 2017 Annual Convention assembled more than 150 scientists from 20 countries united in Bangkok, Thailand (Fig. 1). The assembly also included the 14th International Conference on Gondwana to Asia, the IGCP 628 Meeting - The Gondwana Map, and the 6th Symposium of IGCP 632 - Jurassic Crises. The central theme was the Gondwanan Asian terranes that record the dynamic evolution of the northern Gondwana margin. The conference was conducted during November 7 to 21, with integrated field trips, special symposia and other activities in Thailand. During the five days’ meeting, there was a mid-week one-day excursion providing a touristic/cultural trip in the city.

On November 12th, the conference was inaugurated by Mr. Surasak Kanchanarat, Minister of Natural Resources and Environment of Thailand, presided by Prof. M. Santosh (Secretary General, IAGR) and welcome address by Dr. Tawsaporn Nuchanong, the Director-General of the Department of Mineral Resources, joined by IGCP leaders (Dr. Hamish Campbell – IGCP 632; and Dr. Renata Schmitt – IGCP 638 –
