

Author's Accepted Manuscript

Asymmetric information in securitization: An empirical Assessment

Ugo Albertazzi, Ginette Eramo, Leonardo Gambacorta, Carmelo Salleo

www.elsevier.com/locate/jme

PII: S0304-3932(14)00159-7
DOI: <http://dx.doi.org/10.1016/j.jmoneco.2014.11.002>
Reference: MONEC2734

To appear in: Journal of Monetary Economics

Received date: 18 August 2011
Revised date: 1 November 2014
Accepted date: 3 November 2014

Cite this article as: Ugo Albertazzi, Ginette Eramo, Leonardo Gambacorta, Carmelo Salleo, Asymmetric information in securitization: An empirical Assessment, Journal of Monetary Economics, <http://dx.doi.org/10.1016/j.jmoneco.2014.11.002>

This is a PDF file of an unedited manuscript that has been accepted for publication. As a service to our customers we are providing this early version of the manuscript. The manuscript will undergo copyediting, typesetting, and review of the resulting galley proof before it is published in its final citable form. Please note that during the production process errors may be discovered which could affect the content, and all legal disclaimers that apply to the journal pertain.

Asymmetric Information in Securitization: An Empirical Assessment***

Accepted manuscript

---

* Corresponding author: Leonardo Gambacorta, Monetary and Economic Department, Bank for International Settlements, Centralbahnplatz 2, CH-4002 Basel, Switzerland; tel: +41 61 280 9164 e-mail: leonardo.gambacorta@bis.org. The authors thank Paolo Angelini, Claudio Borio, Steve Cecchetti, Geraldo Cerqueiro, Ingo Fender, Petra Gerlach, Jacob Gyntelberg, Michael King, Agnese Leonello, Jose Liberti, Fabio Panetta, Alberto Pozzolo, Bernard Salanié, Nikola Tarashev, and, in particular, the editor Kristopher Gerardi and one anonymous referee for their helpful comments. We are also grateful to participants at seminars held at the Bank for International Settlements, the Bank of Italy, the Bank of Spain, the ECB-CFS Workshop on "The structure of the euro area market for banks' debt financing", the second workshop on financial intermediation of the RCEA at the University of Bologna, the 4th Swiss Winter Conference on Financial Intermediation, the 2012 American Finance Association (AFA) annual meeting, the 2013 Financial Intermediation Research Society (FIRS) Conference. Earlier versions of this paper circulated under the title "Securitization is not that evil after all". The opinions expressed in this paper are the authors' own and do not necessarily reflect those of the Bank of Italy, the Bank for International Settlements, or the European Central Bank.

Download English Version:

<https://daneshyari.com/en/article/966826>

Download Persian Version:

<https://daneshyari.com/article/966826>

Daneshyari.com